Dear Louise :-

The fires are going full blast - The windows are painted by Jack Frost - and the thermometer is going down like an elevator and about as fast: it has got as far as 4 above and ain't afraid water pipes and such likes will feel it tonight - but my heat is as warm as ever. It snowed today so we have about 3 or 4 inches.

Cora just got home was over to Clifford since yesterday Edith has whooping cough and Lila wanted her so she has her whooping cough and all. Bertram Goodrich has
